

“THIS IS ELLIE BLACK MEMBER OF TEAM CANADA.”

When you see me on the world stage, I’m an Olympian and 10-time Pan Am Games medallist in artistic gymnastics. What you don’t see is that I’m facing my biggest challenge yet as I prepare for my fourth Olympics. I’ll be one of the oldest female gymnasts competing in Paris. It’s no secret that gymnastics is typically dominated by younger athletes. As a 28 year-old, people might question whether I’m too old to compete with the world’s best, and they might think my best days are behind me. But I’m using my experience to my advantage and drawing on my past victories to fuel my way forward. At the Olympic Games in Paris, I’m out to prove once and for all that you’re only as old as you feel. And I feel like a champion.”
